ARMOR DYNAMICS INC ANNOUNCES NEW WEBSITE

Kingston, N.Y. (January 21, 2009) – Armor Dynamics Inc. today announced the launch of their new Web site, www.armordynamics.com. The site serves as an online information resource for clients, investors and potential employees.

“The launch of our new Web site is an exciting step in the growth of our business,” said David Warren, president and CEO of Armor Dynamics Inc. “The site serves as a great informational tool about the business and differentiates our services in the market.”

Armor Dynamics’ new Web site includes information on the company’s history, products, and latest news as well as technical information on industry performance standards. Future updates to the site will include case studies, white papers and upcoming events.

Armor Dynamics Inc.

Armor Dynamics, Inc was founded in early 2004 with the mission to develop integrated armor protection systems using cost-effective, advanced materials and innovative ceramics design technology. We design and supply these advanced materials and develop new applications through innovation, extensive testing and feedback from the field to meet the following criteria: light-weight, high-performance, cost effective, timely and field ready.

Armor Dynamics was founded by individuals with security, engineering, manufacturing and military backgrounds. This combined experience and knowledge has been critical in developing new and innovative products for the military, law enforcement and homeland security forces.
